

SECRET

2200, 26 April 1964

CIA/RR GB 64-14
(PN 60.2116 G)

ITEM ON ZERAVSHAN VALLEY LANDSLIDE SUBMITTED TO

25X1A

FOR OCI DAILY BULLETIN

The potential disaster in the Samarkand area of the south central portion of the USSR would be of only local and regional significance. Military installations which might be destroyed include only a Surface to Air missile site, a Surface to Air missile support facility, and a 6,000 foot graded earth civil/military airfield which is occasionally used by light jet bombers. Economic damage would be limited to locally important industrial facilities and cotton and fruit lands.

SECRET

